INSURRECTOS FIGHT ON AMERICAN SOIL

Band Attacked Town of Chisos Springs, Texas, Looting the Place and Stealing Cattle.

CITIZENS BEAT THEM OFF; TWO INSURRECTOS KILLED

GREAT EXCITEMENT CAUSED BY NEWS OF INVASION OF THIS COUNTRY—TROOPS MAY BE ORDERED REMOVED TO BORDER AT ONCE.

San Antonio, Texas, March 22.—A battle in which two Mexicans were killed and more than 300 shots were fired has been fought upon American soil between insurgents and armed Americans at Chisos Springs, Brewster county, Texas.

As a result of the battle a large number of the United States regulars encamped in Texas may be moved upon the border. Five troops of cavalry were rushed toward Chisos Springs today.

According to reports received early this morning by General Duncan, commanding the department of Texas, from Mayor J. D. Jackson, of Alpine, ninety miles from Chisos Springs, a detachment of armed Mexicans crossed the Rio Grande attacking the town and destroying property. At the first rush the Americans were driven from the streets. The Mexicans broke into stores looting them and smashing the windows of private residences.

They corraled all the livestock they could find and made ready to march back across the border when a few Americans who had armed themselves fired upon the invaders. The battle followed. Two of the Mexicans were killed and it is reported that others were wounded. The Mexicans beat a retreat, firing as they ran. However, they were able to take a large amount of livestock with them. There are a number of quick-silver mines at Tertiqua, near Chisos Springs and it is feared that these will be attacked. The miners have been armed and guards are patrolling the property with instructions to fire upon marauding Mexicans upon sight.

News of the invasion of American soil has caused much excitement in the manoeuvre camps and officers and men expressed their eagerness to go to the front.

Officers Failed to Find Ed. C. Caton

Charlotte, March 22.—Ed. C. Caton, the Sharon township man whose reputation his neighbors declare to be bad, and whose conditional pardon from the chieftain Gov. W. W. Kitchen virtually revoked last Thursday, is still numbered with the missing. Since the day he perished learned the governor had acted upon the petition of his neighbors praying for a revocation of his pardon, Caton has not been seen by any officer. County officers have searched for him in vain, while policemen of the city have sought him in his usual haunts here, but without results.

Unless he answers the order commanding his arrest 10 days after its date—the 16th—he is deemed a fugitive from justice and will remain such for all time. The revocation of the pardon will then hang over him, and if he ever returns to Mecklenburg county he will have to serve 16 months on the chain. People of Sharon township are satisfied that he has left and only hope that he will remain away.

Valuable Horse Seriously Hurt

A valuable horse belonging to C. M. Crawford, 500 South Mendenhall street, was seriously hurt yesterday afternoon and it is likely that the animal will have to be killed. A negro boy was preparing to mount for a horseback ride when the animal reared up and became overbalanced, falling flat on her back and striking her head a terrific blow. The animal was rendered unconscious. A veterinarian was summoned and efforts made to relieve the horse.

BENJ. GREENE SAYS HE LOST MONEY IN REAL ESTATE DEALS

Atlanta, Ga., March 22.—Taking of testimony in the hearing on the application of Benjamin D. Greene for a pauper's oath to free himself of the fine of $583,000 imposed in connection with a prison sentence for defrauding the government in connection with harbor improvements at Savannah, Ga., came to an abrupt termination this morning. Adjournment was immediately taken until 3 o'clock this afternoon when arguments began.

When Captain Greene resumed the stand today the government continued its efforts to unearth some of the money or assets which it was claimed the prisoner had concealed for his benefit when he should be freed from the Federal prison. Various transactions in real estate in New York city, London and elsewhere were gone into but the evidence produced tended to show that Captain Greene had lost thousands of dollars in these deals or that the properties in question had been transferred to his wife in partial payment of large sums advanced to him from her private fortune prior to his conviction.

Replying to questions by Daniel W. Rountree, leading counsel for the defense, the prisoner testified that he had exhausted his own fortune of nearly a million dollars while awaiting the appeal of his case and that since that time what money he had received came from his wife, in small amounts. Mrs. Greene has been living in London for some years and it is expected that Captain Greene will join her there when released from prison.

Haw River Cases in Bankruptcy Heard

Three bankruptcy cases came up before Referee G. S. Ferguson yesterday, trustees being elected for the bankrupt concerns at Haw River. In the matter of the Trollingwood Manufacturing Company James Young was elected trustee and he was empowered to sell free from liens the cotton mill property. The sale will be on May 1, and appraisers will ascertain the value of the property before the date of sale. Charles A. Scott, of Graham, was appointed trustee in the bankruptcy matter of B. S. Robertson. Harvey White, of Graham, was elected trustee in the bankruptcy matter of John A. Trolinger.

Revival Services at Asheboro Street

The revival meeting at Asheboro Street Baptist church continues with much interest. Last night Rev. Mr. Padgett preached a strong sermon on "The Riches and Goodness of God." There was one profession of conversion at the close of the service. The meetings are being largely attended and the congregation is being greatly revived, spiritually. This afternoon at 3:30 o'clock Rev. Mr. Padgett will preach.

Tonight's service will begin at 7:30 with a song service, the sermon to begin at 7:45 o'clock. The Greensboro Male Quartet will sing. The public cordially invited.

Little Doing in Municipal Court

Yesterday's session of Municipal court was a short one, no cases of importance being disposed of. Floyd Corzine and Bertie Honeycutt were arraigned on the charge of unlawfully living together. The case was continued until this morning and the defendants were placed under bonds of $500 each for their appearance. John Payne, Sam Terrell and Sam Jenkins were arraigned on the charge of vagrancy, judgment being continued until this morning.

Jim George was convicted on the charge of an assault, Judge Eure sentencing him to 30 days on the roads.

Cigarette Bill Vetoed.
Salt Lake City, Utah, March 22.—A bill, making the sale of cigarettes in this state a misdemeanor, was vetoed by Governor Spry last night.

NO DECISION YET IN THE MOSS CASE

Judge Pritchard Will Likely Render Decision Latter Part of Week—Was Not Favorably Impressed With Evidence and Will Investigate Thoroughly.

It is not expected that Judge Pritchard will render his decision in the Moss case before the latter part of the week. After the evidence was all brought out Judge Pritchard stated that he would have to look into the matter before announcing his decision and as he would have to be in Raleigh today he would hardly be able to reach a decision before Friday or Saturday. Meantime Moss will remain in jail in Asheville.

In its report of the hearing before Judge Pritchard yesterday's Asheville Citizen has the following:

District Attorney A. E. Holton prosecuted the case, while Stern and Hudson represented the defendant.

Mr. Holton argued that the case was one to be tried before a jury instead of being passed upon by a judge, while the defense contended that no intention of fraud was connected with the case.

After hearing the evidence in the case, Judge Pritchard said that he was not favorably impressed with the evidence, and would not deny the writ of habeas corpus until looking into the case more thoroughly.

When questioned by Judge Pritchard as to his conduct on the day in question, Moss stated that he had been tanked up on a blind tiger whiskey and did not know anything about the way in which he had conducted himself. He further stated that he had never been a revenue officer and knew very little about the revenue business. When asked how he came in possession of the cards which he presented at different places, he said that he knew nothing of having such cards in his possession.

Many Want the Contract to Equip Interurban Line

Charlotte, March 22.—Mr. W. S. Lee, Jr., the active head of the building syndicate of the Piedmont & Northern Railway and of the Piedmont Traction Company, and his associates and assistants are in conference this week with representatives of all the big electrical manufacturing and supply houses of the country in regard to the contracts for the equipment of the interurban system. There is of course a tremendous amount of work involved in determining exactly the amount and the kind of equipment to secure and it will possibly be several days and possibly several weeks before all of the contracts are let.

Contracts are yet to be let for the cross-ties and the rails for the actual road, for trolley wires, transformers and other electrical equipment, passenger, baggage and express cars, freight cars, motor cars, etc. It is estimated that this equipment for the two links of the interurban for which the grading has already been contracted, will amount to $2,500,000 to $2,750,000, and the cost of grading the two links more than $1,300,000, not being included.

Never have the people of North and South Carolina been in such close touch with the financing of such a mammoth enterprise, and they are naturally much interested in every phase of the situation. Those who subscribed to stock in the interurban have already paid in ten per cent of the amount they subscribed for, and this money is being poured into channels that run directly into and through Charlotte. The Queen City is the pivotal point and around it swings the interurban line that is to connect the Carolinas.

To Build Court House.
Savannah, Ga., March 22.—At Hinesville, Liberty county, yesterday afternoon the county commissioners decided to build a $30,000 court house. The county will also spend $7,000 this year on good roads.

From Winston-Salem Journal.
Miss Lydia Stille of High Point arrived in the city yesterday afternoon to visit relatives and friends.
E. C. Barrow, of Greensboro was among the business visitors to the city yesterday.

WILL MATTER BE AGAIN POSTPONED?

Winston People Much Interested in New Freight Rates on N. & W. Which Become Effective April 1 Unless Interstate Corporation Commission Extends Time.

Winston-Salem, March 23.—The business men of this community are deeply interested in the new freight rates which are scheduled to go into effect on the Norfolk & Western Railroad on Railroad on April 1 next.

The tariff has not been issued yet by the company and the large shippers are just waiting to see what the powers that be are going to do about it.

It will be recalled that the Interstate Commerce Commission issued an order last year, following a long contest by the Boards of Trade of Winston-Salem and Durham, granting the two places a reduction in rates on coal and other commodities from Virginia, West Virginia and the West. The new tariff was to have gone into effect last year, but the Norfolk & Western secured a continuance and in response to a telegram sent one of the officials of the company today, a reply came stating that the question of reduced rates was still pending before the higher commission.

It is understood that the Board of Trade has taken up the matter again and the action of the commission will be awaited with interest.

Aldermen Meet Tomorrow Night

The Board of Aldermen will meet in regular semi-monthly session tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. It is not believed that any business of note will be transacted, but there are a number of matters of routine nature that will come up for consideration. The committee appointed sometime ago to investigate the cost of constructing the Martin street subway will likely make a final report, but it is not expected that the board will take any action regarding the matter further than to receive the report and discharge the committee.

This subway was contracted for about six years ago and the Southern has gone to considerable expense to prepare for a subway and now wants the city to fulfill its part of the contract. It is understood that in view of the fact that the term of the board will expire in a few weeks the matter will be left unsettled until the commissioners take up the reins of government.

VERDICT FOR PLAINTIFF IN SUIT AGAINST WINSTON.

Winston-Salem, March 22.—The jury in the case of M. D. Bailey, Jr., vs. City of Winston brought in a verdict this afternoon allowing the plaintiff $2,000. They answered the issues to the effect that the plaintiff was injured by the negligence of the defendant and that he did not contribute to the negligence resulting in his injury.

The case has been in the superior court for several days. Quite an amount of evidence was introduced and the argument consumed some length of time.

The suit was for $5,000 for injuries resulting from a fall in a ditch on North Liberty street some time ago, which the plaintiff alleged necessitated his being in the hospital here and at Baltimore for some time and entailing much expense.

Ensley Indictment Quashed.
Indianapolis, Ind., March 22.—The indictment against Oliver P. Ensley, former treasurer of this (Marion) county, charging him with embezzlement of $19,000 of the county funds was quashed today. Ensley was tried on the charge last year but the jury disagreed, ten being for conviction and two for acquittal.

The indictment was quashed on the ground that no demand for the money had been made on Ensley. Prosecutor Baker said the state would take an appeal from the ruling of the special judge.

Reports Unfounded.
Seattle, Wash., March 22.—Samuel C. Reatts, United States consul at Formosa, who is in Seattle on his way to his post in the Orient, said that there was no foundation for the reports that Japan was fortifying Formosa.

CHICAGO PACKERS MUST FACE JURY RULES THE COURT

Chicago, Ill., March 2.—The indicted Chicago packers lost their fight against going to trial on the indictments secured by the government several months ago when Judge Carpenter in the United States district court today overruled their demurrer to the charges and held that the immunity granted by Judge Humphrey of the federal circuit court in 1906 did not apply to the present charges, which he held were based on evidence not included in the Humphrey decision.

Judge Carpenter's decision went into the controversy relating to immunity with great care.

In brief the packers position was that any conspiracy that might have existed was the plotting done prior to Judge Humphrey's immunity decision and that the immunity from prosecution granted them extended over all future time, so long as the acts covered by the 1906 decision remained the same.

In deciding this Judge Carpenter ruled that the immunity granted them was only for acts which had occurred prior to the date of the indictment.

As to the contention of the defense that the conspiracy ended with the first plotting, he ruled that so long as the acts complained of continued the conspiracy remained in effect.

In addition the offenses of the packers prior to their immunity and from the criminal responsibility for which they were freed by the Humphrey decision, were defined by the court as none the less criminal in themselves. He said they could be used in prosecutions which were predicted on a continuation of the offense.

Mine Roof Falls; Nine Men Killed

Pittsburg, Pa., March 22.—Nine men were instantly killed today in the Hazel mine of the Pittsburg and Buffalo Coal Company at East Cannonsburg, Pa. They were being taken to their rooms in a remote part of the mine when a mass of loose slate in the roof fell, filling one car in which there were ten men.

The motor was stopped and other workmen on the train hastened to the assistance of the unfortunates. The death dealing slate was quickly cleared away and the bodies recovered. All were foreigners except David Donley, an American. Three of the men were married. The uninjured foreigner was riding at the end of the car, and escaped practically unhurt.

Site Selected for Masonic Home

F. C. Boyles, C. M. Vanstory and Paul Lindley, the committee from the local Masonic lodges, accompanied by L. M. Clymer, yesterday looked over the tract of land on which the Masonic and Eastern Star Home is to be located and decided on the site for the buildings. The buildings will be located on the knoll near the macadam road and will command a view in all directions. The bids for the work have been called for and it is hoped to begin work on the buildings as early as possible. The main building will be 112 feet in length and 90 feet in width, two stories and basement and will accommodate about one hundred people.

From Durham Sun.
Mrs. L. A. Perkins and Miss Hattie Alston arrived in the city this morning from Greensboro, and will be the guests of Mr. C. B. Alston.

Miss Fanstin Vaughan left this morning for Greensboro on a visit to her sister, Mrs. H. H. Jenkins.

Rev. G. T. Adams and daughter, Miss Martha Adams, returned to the city this morning after spending yesterday in Greensboro.

Mrs. Harrison's Condition.
A phone message from the residence of Dr. Edmund Harrison late last night was to the effect that Mrs. Harrison's condition was practically unchanged. She is critically ill and death is expected at any hour. Several physicians held a consultation with the family physician yesterday.

$100,000 COTTON MILL CHARTERED

Bessemer City Gets Industry—Gastonia and Bessemer City Men the Incorporators.

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE ACT WAS SLIPPED THROUGH

ACT IS LOCAL AND APPLIES TO WRIGHTSVILLE BEACH SEWERAGE SYSTEM ELECTION—W. M. RUSS, PROMINENT RALEIGH MAN, DEAD.

Raleigh, March 22.—There was another cotton mill charter issued today by the secretary of state. It was for the Atlas Manufacturing Company, of Bessemer City, capital $100,000; by C. J. Huss, A. A. McLean, of Gastonia, and J. J. Ormond, of Bessemer City; the corporation having power to conduct a general cotton manufacturing and textile business. There were also charters today for the Pruden-Jones Co., Durham, capital $6,000, for general mercantile business; J. D. Pruden, J. S. Carr, Jr., and others being the incorporators. The Brown Summit Telephone Company, capital $10,000, for conducting a farmers' telephone exchange; J. C. Hardie being one of the principal incorporators.

Woman's Suffrage Act Passed.

The work of indexing laws passed by the recent legislature brings to light the interesting fact that a "woman's suffrage" act was passed. It is in an act to authorize a bond issue by Wrightsville Beach, the Wilmington seaside resort, for installing more extensive sewerage system. The act provides that in the election every woman owning property on the beach shall have a vote. Also that corporations shall have one vote each, to be cast as the directors shall direct.

W. M. Russ Dead.

Shortly after midnight at his home on Blount street W. M. Russ, one of Raleigh's most prominent citizens, died suddenly of dilation of the heart. He had been in bad health for several months but seemed to have regained normal condition. He was, especially bright last night before retiring, but was seized with coughing and nausea and died before medical aid could be summoned. Mr. Russ was 56 years old, a native of Wake county, he had been for twelve years clerk of the county superior court and prior to that time for three terms mayor of Raleigh. He was an especially popular and highly esteemed man. He leaves a wife and four children.

Completing Street Paving.

The indications are now that within a few days the placing of the last section of vitrified brick paving along the street railway tracks where the city has put down asphalt will be completed; the section of Fayetteville street from the State House to Davis street, four squares, having been left all winter. The work was resumed today and is being pushed at the rate of nearly a square of the paving per day. When completed Raleigh can boast of more than eleven squares of street paving around capital square and down Fayetteville and Martin streets to the Union station.

Judge Cline's Good Record.

Sheriff R. C. Roane, of Swain county, has committed to the penitentiary Jessie Spivey to serve five years for breaking into a store. Sheriff Roane spent the day in Raleigh. He says the Swain court was held by Judge Cline, one of the new superior court judges, and that he made a fine impression. The sheriff is the first Democrat elected in Swain in twelve years and is serving his second term.

Farm Life Schools.

Movements by counties for the establishment of farm life schools under the State aid act of the recent General Assembly are being inaugurated and the indications are that very soon there will be on file definite applications for the state aid more than taking up the ten for the year to which the act limits the state. Gaston county got in the first formal application with complete presentation of arrangement for $25,000 (Continued on Page Five.)

H. G. BRAXTON, - Business Manager.

The Telegram's Phone is No. 59.

The Telegram is entered at the Post-office in Greensboro, North Carolina, for transmission through the mails as Second Class Matter.

And thou too, Asheville!

Woodrow Wilson is giving the bosses a hard row to hoe.

President Diaz has not resigned, in which respect he is like Ballinger was.

Spring is officially here, but for practical purposes now you see it and now you don't.

The date of Easter this year is April 16th. May 1st will bring sadness to the bill payers.

The politicians of Raleigh undoubtedly killed the commission proposition. Raleigh ought to kill off the politicians.

The Durham Herald believes Raleigh has more politicians to the square inch than any other city in the State. That is bad for Raleigh.

The obliging gentlemen who have been trying to disrupt the Democratic party in North Carolina have the Democratic party's permission to try again.

Grand opera is a great success in Atlanta. The people don't know much about it, except that it is the finest advertising proposition Atlanta has discovered in years.

Asheville did not hit commission government such a terrific blow as was given it in Raleigh, but the Buncombe metropolis killed the measure just as dead, perhaps, as it was killed in the capital.

"Soon Strawberry shortcake will be in our midst," announces an exchange. The man who mentions strawberry shortcake until the berry season is in our midst, ought to be reprimanded for cruelty to animals.

Greensboro and Wilmington—the commission cities of North Carolina—will have to show other cities of the State the value of commission government. After being shown by cities in the State, perhaps the others will adopt this form.

Jose Yves Limantour is his name and he is Minister of Finance of Mexico. The name does not read like that of a great financier, but it is said that Minister Limantour knows J. Pierpont Morgan intimately, which is a first class recommendation—in Wall Street.

This is "clean-up week" in Spartanburg. Every week ought to be "clean-up week" in Spartanburg and in every other city. One week in the year will not suffice to keep a city clean. Endless labor is the price of a clean and sanitary city. The cleaning process must proceed all the time.

Viewing the matter from a selfish standpoint, citizens of Greensboro would have been pleased to see every other city in the State reject commission government. The advantages to Greensboro in being the only commission governed city in North Carolina would have been immense. However, Greensboro people are not selfish, and for the welfare of other municipalities voting on this question, would have been glad if all had adopted it.

The Citizen assigns as one cause of the defeat of commission government in Asheville the alleged fact that the "blind tigers" and their friends opposed it. This element of the population was made to believe that commission government would be bad for their business. The vote was so close in Asheville that it may be possible the election was swung that way by the men engaged in violation of the prohibition law.

Thomas B. Felder, one of the sharpest of the sharp Atlanta lawyers is after Governor Blease of South Carolina, and says publicly in the newspapers that he is going to show the Governor up as one of the greatest scoundrels in South headwaters of Fight Creek, and it will be safe to wager that South Carolina's unpopular chief executive will be shot as full of holes as a sieve in this contest. It is amazing that a State like South Carolina should elevate a man like Blease to the office of Governor.

For a college professor in these modern times Woodrow Wilson is a great fighter. In the old days when the boys licked the teacher, or were themselves licked, teachers were made of stern stuff. In the modern college, however, the professors do not have ample opportunity for developing the fighting instinct. "Moral suasion" is mainly used nowadays in controlling school boys. Professor Wilson appears to be aware of the fact, however, that "moral suasion" is not an effective weapon to be used against professional politicians or a political machine. He realizes that these gentlemen must be "whipped to a frazzle," and it must be admitted that, as a frazzler, the Professor is so far an unqualified success.

THE INDUSTRIES OF GREENSBORO.

The Telegram publishes today the first of a series of articles relating to the industries of this city. The article in question deals with the cigar manufacturing industry and outlines briefly the scope of this industry as it is being carried on at the factory of Seidenberg & Company.

From time to time The Telegram will publish articles covering the other industrial interests of Greensboro, and it is proposed to continue this course until all the manufacturing establishments of importance in the city have been mentioned.

The industries of Greensboro are a very important part of the city's business interests. In fact, the city has now arrived at that stage of its growth where its industries are the most important feature of business life, because future growth and expansion will hinge on industrial development. In order to further growth Greensboro must have additional population, and more people must come from other cities, towns and sections of the country and as an inducement to come it must first be made evident to them that there is employment here for new population. It would be folly, if it were possible, for Greensboro to secure ten thousand additional population during the next six months, for the reason that the greater part of the number would be unable to find employment if they came here. Some would find employment, it is true, and it is a fact that in some lines there is a demand for more workers; but the majority of ten thousand additional population seeking work would fail to find it. Therefore it is evident that, in order to provide work for more people, there must be growth of the industries already here and there must be other industries established in old lines or the establishment of new lines of manufacturing. Hence the importance of the city's manufacturing interests.

The development of new industries and the expansion of old ones furnishes the chief avenue for the growth of Greensboro. The wholesale and retail trade of the city and other lines of business will increase with the growth of population, but the chief source of growth of population is through industrial development. Greensboro must have more industrial capital, more industrial captains, more people employed in manufacturing. The other interests of the city must be developed proportionately and keep pace with the increase of population and of capital, but the future of Greensboro undoubtedly hinges on industrial growth. The Telegram is deeply impressed with the aspects of the industrial condition of this city at the present time, and it is with the view of contributing somewhat to the solution of difficulties confronting those who are striving for industrial development and to afford encouragement to the pioneers in manufacturing here that this series of articles on Greensboro industries is being prepared.

It is probable that a vast number of the people of the city have only a faint idea of Greensboro's industrial life as a whole, and it is doubtless true that some of the city's industries are an unknown quantity to hundreds. It will be helpful to every class of citizens to have accurate information in regard to all the manufacturing enterprises of Greensboro, and the publicity thus given will materially further the interests of these enterprises. The articles will be published for what they may prove to be worth to the various industries and to the city as a whole.

"A HUSBAND IS A WOMAN'S BEST FRIEND."

"A husband is a woman's best friend!" exclaims Laura Jean Libby, the eminent authoress and expert on matters of the heart. How true it is! Though he may be neglected and forgotten for weeks, when the bill collector comes around the husband is called to the front. Whatever minor position he may occupy at other times, just after the first of the month he becomes important. He must face the grocer, meet the milliner and answer the misadventure of the dry goods man.

Whether the suffragists will admit it or not, a husband is a very handy thing to have around the house. He can fix the furnace, bring up the coal, talk back to the hired man, and some exceptionally brave and hardy ones have been known to go to the extent of taking their lives in their hands and discharging the cook. They save a lot of trouble when ladies want to go to the theatre, and are extensively used as companions in going to bridge parties and returning from the same.

A sad and silent figure he may be, and his name appears in the blaze of social lights only as "among those present," but when he gets away even the busiest club-woman of a wife soon finds that something is missing. In a theatre or at a reception he makes the first of fur-holders and wrap-carriers, and nothing else forms so excellent a background for brilliant costumes as a row of them standing up at the back of an opera box.

Laura Jean is right. A woman has no better friend than a well-trained husband. And the women realize it. Whenever the supply of husbands runs short in any community there is sadness and sorrow. Bachelors are all right in their way, but the only genuine is the man who marries. He fights the world's battles, keeps up its fires, moves its furniture, looks after its children, and pays its bills. Though he seldom gets a monument until he has passed away from this vale of tears, he is a hero, too.—Baltimore Sun.

NEWSPAPER OPINION.

No Strings To It.

Nevertheless, we can give Mr. Ballinger credit for one good thing. He did not Baileyize his resignation.—Indianapolis News.

And Also in the Initiative.

Judging from that rapidity with which he decided upon that extra session of Congress, it is evident that President Taft believes in the recall.—Savannah Press.

False Any Way.

The Texas Legislature proposes to do away with hobble skirts, false hair and false teeth, false—but enough of these Wild West improbabilities.—Jacksonville Times-Union.

Might Appeal to Carnegie.

Ought To Be Unanimous.

Opposition to Canadian reciprocity in New England must be close to the vanishing point when the lower branch of the Maine Legislature votes in indorsement of the Taft agreement. A motion to make it unanimous for all this section is now in order.—Springfield Republican.

Opening for Lawyers.

Lawyers thrown out of work by the decision not to appeal Interstate Commerce Commission decisions can cheer up. Mr. Ballinger says he will proceed against all those who have attacked him while he was Secretary of the Interior.—Wall Street Journal.

Cody and Vardaman.

It is announced that "Buffalo Bill," Colonel William F. Cody, has an ambition to be United States Senator from Arizona. In case of his election Colonel Cody would have a chance to make a real bona fide farewell tour with his big show. Then, again, in case ex-Governor Vardaman, of Mississippi, goes to the Senate, the picturesqueness of the Senate's personnel would be doubled from the same cause. They are the only two men before the American public who have such long flowing locks. Both are good looking and both have raised their share of sand in the past. But will either land?—Montgomery Advertiser.

The Windmill In War.

A letter quoted in "The First Duke and Duchess of Newcastle" reads like a page from "Don Quixote." It was written by Sir John Hotham during the civil war:

"1642, Oct. Hull.—Upon Sunday night last, as the neighbors of Sherborne tell our men, they (the Cavaliers) drew certain forces out of York to have set upon my son's men at Cawood. When they came in Sherborne, a village three miles from Cawood, they espied a windmill, which they took for my son's colors marching to meet them, and certain stooks of bean for his men in order. Whereupon they returned in more haste than they came."

THE NOTE OF DREAD IMPORT

Debt of Honor That Involved a Human Life.

About the middle of the last century, when the southern states were divided into a number of large plantations, Cuthbert Swayne, a recent graduate of a northern college, took a fancy to become a tutor in some southern manor house. He found a position with an elderly widow, Mrs. Randall, whose children he was engaged to teach. There were two older children—Guy, who was leading a profligate life in Paris, and Evelyn, a girl of seventeen, with her mother on the plantation.

Cuthbert Swayne had been brought up to consider himself the heir to the estate of an uncle, Mr. Seymour, who was childless. Mr. Seymour was old and feeble.

The young northerner had not been long at the plantation before it was evident to every one except her mother that Evelyn Randall was desperately in love with him. Unfortunately Cuthbert did not reciprocate. The girl was so incapable of concealing her passion that those about her were inclined to smile. But it was no laughing matter. One day after a scene in which she and Cuthbert were the actors he notified her mother that he would cancel his engagement and go north immediately. The next morning Evelyn Randall was found dead in her bed. She had committed suicide.

Naturally the blow fell heavily on Cuthbert. He was eager to get away, but Mrs. Randall, who was ignorant of the cause of her daughter's act, begged him not to desert her in her trouble. The old lady sent for her son to come home, and Cuthbert agreed to remain till his arrival.

When Guy Randall arrived he was made acquainted with the reason of his sister's suicide. He came also to other troubles. A mortgage that had been for many years on the plantation was about to be foreclosed. His mother, instead of paying the interest, had sent it to him to squander in Paris. Guy invited Cuthbert into a room in a wing of the house where they were not likely to be disturbed, and when they were together Guy locked the door. He told Cuthbert that none but a craven would permit a girl to bear the whole burden of a tragic love affair and he expected him to inflict upon himself what his sister had suffered. Guy at the same time tossed a bowie knife—a common weapon at that time in the south—to Cuthbert and demanded that he should kill himself. Cuthbert might have used the knife in self defense, but Guy covered him with a pistol. Indeed, had Guy's life been at Cuthbert's disposal to save his own he would not have taken it. The death of the sister was quite enough without having the blood of her brother on his hands.

"I assure you," said Cuthbert, "that I am entirely blameless, but anything I can do to atone for a fault for which I cannot hope that you will acquit me I will do. I am supposed to be heir to the estate of my uncle, estimated to be worth $200,000. My uncle is an old man, liable to die at any moment. I will sign a note for that amount due on the day he dies. If I do not inherit the property as expected then I will accept the same fate as the poor girl who died because she loved me."

A short discussion followed this proposal, at the end of which Cuthbert signed the note payable to whoever should be owner or owners of the Randall estate when it should fall due.

When the two left the room Cuthbert went directly to the stables, mounted a horse and rode to a railway station ten miles away. He was never again seen at the Randall plantation.

Several years after this Cuthbert Swayne, having studied medicine, was house surgeon at a hospital in a large northern city. Among the young women being educated for nurses in the institution was Ruth Hoyt, a girl of more than ordinary refinement. Who she was and where she came from she kept to herself. Dr. Swayne fell in love with her, and his love was returned. As each year had passed and taken him farther from the tragedy the note he had signed bore harder upon him, but it was not till he fell in love that he realized its true import. One evening Miss Hoyt went into Dr. Swayne's office to make a report and surprised him holding a loaded pistol to his temple. He lowered the weapon and gave her an explanation, ending by telling her that he had just heard of his uncle's death and that his property had been given to charity.

"I had hoped," he said, "that when my uncle died this incubus that has been hanging over me would be lifted and that I might take a new bold of life. In that event I had intended to ask you to begin life with me. We are both obliged to work for a living, but I should have succeeded in my profession. Now, my uncle's estate having gone elsewhere, my life must be exchanged for my note."

As he spoke the last words he bowed his head, covering his face with his hands. He felt it lifted by another and looked into a face smiling with encouragement.

"I will pay your note," she said. "Listen to me. I am worth three times its amount. I came here to educate myself the better to distribute my income among the poor. My first request is in payment of your debt. This will take a portion of my possessions, but I will exchange the heart of a man."

SNAPSHOTS AT CELEBRITIES

Major G. O. Squier, Inventor of Multiplex Phone.

© 1911, by American Press Association.

Major George Owen Squier of the signal corps, United States army, who recently invented a device for multiplex telephony, has solved the problem of simultaneously transmitting two or more messages over the same wire. A notable feature of the invention is that it has been made and patented for the benefit of the public. The essence of the new invention is the utilization of the earth itself in lieu of one of the wires that hitherto have been considered necessary to complete a circuit for telephony. This principle was applied to telegraphy some years ago, revolutionizing that service. At that time, thirty years ago, Thomas A. Edison predicted that the principle would some day be applied to telephony. Now it has come, and the prophecy has been fulfilled.

Explaining his invention, Major Squier said: "It means that the time will soon come when telephony will cost little more than nothing. We shall use one single wire as a guide line for wireless messages. That single wire holds the messages from going off into the atmosphere."

Major Squier is a native of Michigan and is forty-five years old. He entered West Point in 1883 and was graduated four years later. He is assistant chief signal officer of the United States army.

Wise Uncle Joe.

Uncle Joe Cannon, at a dinner in Washington, praised the wisdom of the old.

"A young man," he said, quaintly and truly, "thinks he is going to reform the world, but an old man would be glad if he were able to reform himself."

California's New Senator.

Judge John D. Works, who was elected to succeed Frank D. Flint as United States senator from California, has gone on record as favoring the popular election of senators. In a statement made after his election he said: "I hope that before another senator is to be elected in California the power of election will be placed in the hands of the people themselves." Judge Works resigned the presidency of the Los Angeles common council last spring to run for primary nomination as senator and secured a nomination disputed by A. G. Spalding of San Diego, but accepted by the California legislature. The new senator is sixty-two years old and has a civil war record. He enlisted in the Tenth Indiana cavalry when he was fourteen years old and served from 1863 to the end of the war. He was admitted to the bar in Indiana and went to California in 1883. For several years Mr. Works was on the supreme bench of the state. He is the author of several law works.

A Senator's Wit.
Senator Lafayette Young's speeches are full of racy sayings. Senator Young, apropos of a political movement, said the other day: "What they want to do would bring on slow times again, and slow times, as we all know, mean fast days."

Trinity College Prepares for Brilliant Commencement

Durham, March 23.—The following program is announced for Trinity College commencement, which begins June 4:

Sunday, June 4, 8:30 p. m.—Baccalaureate address by President William Preston Few.

Monday, June 5—Annual meeting of the board of trustees.

Tuesday, June 6, 11 a. m.—Commencement sermon by the Rev. Charles E. Jefferson, D. D., pastor of the Broadway Tabernacle, New York City.

Tuesday, June 6, 1 p. m.—Alumni dinner and annual address before the Alumni association by the Hon. Wilfred D. Turner, of Statesville, N. C.

Tuesday, June 6, 8:30 p. m.—Orations by the representatives of the graduating class.

Wednesday, June 7, 10:30 a. m.—Graduating exercises and commencement address by Jacob August Riis, New York City.

Wednesday, June 7, 9 p. m.—Reception in honor of the graduating class.

A glance at the names of the men who will make addresses on that occasion reveals the fact that Trinity continues her policy of inviting men of national wide reputation for her commencement addresses. In the long list of famous divines, diplomats, scholars and authors who have spoken to the large audiences which invariably crowd Green Memorial hall on Trinity's gala occasions, there are no names better known to Americans, and none more distinguished than those of the two speakers who will address the commencement audiences next June. Both are recognized leaders in their respective fields, and their coming here promises to attract the largest gatherings assembled at like occasions in recent years.

Aside from the prominence of the speakers who are coming, the commencement next June derives additional interest from the fact that it will be the first time to be held under the administration of the new president. The baccalaureate address on Sunday evening, June 4, will be President Few's first parting message to an outgoing class and it is not too much to say that it will be one of his most momentous efforts. At the alumni dinner, ex-Lieut. Gov. W. D. Turner, who enjoys more than a state wide reputation as a speaker of force and eloquence, will be the guest of honor, and will deliver the official address of the day.

Millinery Openings.

Throughout the entire day yesterday the store of G. F. Blackmon was crowded with ladies anxious to inspect the spring styles of hats, this being the day set apart for the millinery opening. The various shapes and sizes of headgear were attractively displayed for the inspection of the prospective shoppers.

Mrs. Rosa Hamner Carter held her millinery opening yesterday and the store was thronged with ladies looking over the various shapes of hats. The collection was a varied one and was attractively arranged. The ladies were shown in their admiration of the different shapes of headgear on display.

"Honey and Tar is the best remedy I ever used as it quickly cured a severe cough that had long troubled me," says J. W. Kuhn, Princeton, N.C. Just so quickly and surely it cures all cases of coughs, colds, la grippe and lung trouble. Refuse substitutes. Howard Gardner.

A MAN'S NECKTIES.

Tie Said to Be the Voice of Inner Man.

Somebody has said that "the necktie is the voice of the inner man."

Probably that is the reason the average man invariably dislikes the ties his wife buys him unless they are white or black.

It is to be hoped that the florid middle aged man seen on the street the other day wearing a tie that looked like an exploded rainbow was christening his wife's choice. If that tie expressed "the inner man" the wearer was certainly "a hummer."

The authority for the tie as the voice of the inner man says also that when a man is in love his spirits are so exuberant that he flares out in the most impressionistic of ties. Pink and blue and purple and green are not too brilliant for him. After marriage he subsides into natural tints, save when he is going out for a good time with the boys, when a red tie seems to be the most significant of his mental mood. Wives may get a hint of their husbands' moods from the neckties they sport. If there is a pretty girl in a business office it is wise to watch out for gayety in the neckwear.

If a man has grown indifferent and settled down into a certain monotony of life and thought he buys the six for a quarter kind at the bargain counter. If he's something of a top he tries several before he finds quite the right thing in which to approach the day's duties. Remember the story of Beau Brummel's valet, who, being asked concerning a basket of crumpled ties he was taking away, replied, "These, sir, are our failures."

A wife should lose no opportunity of gaining information relative to her husband's idiosyncrasies. The knowledge aids her in managing him. She should let him buy his own ties and keep her eyes open as to what he wears.

Tips For the Cook.

A tiny bit of butter is often an improvement to cake frostings, especially coffee, chocolate, maple or caramel.

A slight sprinkling of orange juice gives a delicate finishing touch to light wheaten pancakes served with butter and sugar. Lemon juice is often used in this way in European households.

In putting up school children's lunches it is not necessary to use always the same kind of bread. White wheat bread should be varied with whole wheat, graham, rye and Boston brown bread. The children will not only have the dietetic advantages of the peculiar qualities of each kind, but they will not grow tired so quickly of "plain bread and butter." Do not cut off the crusts of the bread and lose the nutriment which they contain.

To prevent baked potatoes from becoming soggy break the skins upon taking them from the oven. This gives the steam a chance to escape.

Dried cherries should be used in cookery oftener than they are at present. Soaked overnight and cooked in sugar next day, they make a nice sauce, which may well take the place of apples at this time of the year, when the latter fruit is apt to grow flavorless. They may also be used in cakes and sweet puddings instead of currants or in combination with them. In fact, they may be used in almost any recipe calling for currants. They have a piquancy which the currant lacks.

When bright red apples are to be made into sauce do not peel, but merely wash them well and quarter. Let them cook till tender and then press them through a potato ricer or very coarse sieve that will exclude only the skins and cores. Not only is the beautiful color of the apples preserved by this method of cooking, but there is much saving of good apple pulp which is more or less wasted with peeling.

Women and Society

Waisted Time.

As I've gone through this life I have had my full share of trouble and sorrow and pain.

I have stood for some things that would make a man swear.

Yet got back my good temper again. But to all that has happened or all that may wait

I'd declare myself fully resigned. Could I send to oblivion that thing which I hate—

The waist which is fastened behind.

I must own I'm a sluggard, and mornings I spring

From my couch with no minutes to waste.

I swallow my food, as it were, on the wing

And dress in undignified haste.

I reach for my hat, for already I hear My train whistle 'way up the track.

But a soft voice then greets me: "Before you go, dear,

Please fasten my waist in the back."

I'm fond of the theatre and often invest

In tickets some drama to see.

I urge my wife in good time to be dressed

And ready and waiting for me.

But I've never yet seen the first end of a play.

And to swear I feel strongly inclined,

When we're half an hour late and the fault I must lay

On the waist which is fastened behind.

If Gabriel should blow his trumpet some morn

To summon us all to the skies,

And away from our earthly pursuits we are torn.

Taken greatly, perhaps, by surprise,

What, oh! what will become of my good wife and I

If the usual trouble we find

In putting together each hook and each eye

In the waist which is fastened behind?

Mrs. Clark's Opinion.

"If I had my way," said Mrs. Champ Clark, wife of the next Speaker of the House of Representatives, "every woman would have a husband and children."

"Then you do not believe in equal suffrage?"

"Oh, yes," she answered. "I believe in suffrage this far. I think women should vote if they want to, and if fitted for certain political places all right, no one can be the judge. It is a matter for the individual. But that woman was intended as a helpmate for man goes without saying, and especially should women endeavor to be the helpmate of the American man. I think American men are the strongest and best. Why, they nearly kill themselves in work, and women should do everything to make their burdens lighter. The man in the office, mill, in fact everywhere, works harder than the man of any other nation.

Mrs. Clark is of a domestic nature and takes great pride that she can bake a prize loaf and darn broken garments. She said:

"I am very proud of the fact that once I took a prize for baking the best loaf of bread at Pike county (Missouri) fair, also one for darning, and I think labor not undignified for any of the first ladies of the land at any time. The word 'servant' has been much abused, its early meaning 'to serve' being beautiful, and certainly there is nothing better than to do something for somebody.

"I think a woman can help in many ways and, best of all, let me reiterate, she should be a help-mate for her husband if she would reap the reward. My husband has helped me as much as I have helped my husband. But know this, with still more spirit, I do not believe in helping him to the extent of being a door mat."

Mrs. Clark believes mutual sympathy and companionable words make the home less liable to disagreement between husband and wife.—Washington Herald.

G. F. C. Alumnae of Winston Meet.

Quite a large number of alumnae of Greensboro Female College were in attendance upon the meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John W. Hanes, in West End, which was characterized by much enthusiasm and encouragement.

The president, Mrs. Frank A. Martin, communicated Mrs. Lucy Robertson's cordial invitation to the association to attend the exercises of commencement at G. F. C., especially those of Alumnae day, for which many pleasures are being planned, the entire day to be devoted to the alumnae.

Quite a number of business matters came up for discussion, among them ways and means of raising funds for the endowment of a $10,000 chair of English. A unique method was adopted with the Column Memorial as a basis. The classes under each of the former presidents have presented these beautiful columns to the college, and they will be asked to subscribe, as an association, $500 each. A portion of the money raised will be devoted to procuring oil paintings of former presidents and the remainder will go to fund for the chair of English.—Winston Sentinel.

involved and hold them up in the light of reason.

We learn the movement originated by an army officer. The name "Scout" itself suggests war maneuvers while at present the movement is officered by Taft, the ex-secretary of war, Roosevelt an ex-colonel of the Spanish-American war, Admiral Geo. Dewey, a retired war officer, Major-General Wood and doubtless others who favor wholesale bloodshed.

These are a few who are so very much interested in "obedience to parents and scout leaders." There's a reason.

My young friends, the Boy Scouts, take me to task about my mistaken idea of the distinctive standing of the movement for peace, and right here let it be asked if warship and cannons are necessary in the work of peace, and reconciliation in the human family? If not why do the scouts swear to be obedient to rules and obligations laid down by men who operate vehicles of war.

Why do the Boy Scouts crave for the army-like suits? Where is the consistency in taking an oath to be obedient to scout rules and being armed with swords and bayonets, which the scout law so strictly prohibits? Why

And again, it is absurd to fancy that Dewey, Roosevelt and other men slayers should try to sincerely council a set of boys in the ways of peace. Far be it from them. Their service is not necessary. #### FOR THE THIN AND SCRAWNY.

Samose Will Make You Plump and Rosy, Says Howard Gardner.

If you are getting thin, you are sick, although you may not know it. If you are losing weight steadily, there is something wrong that needs looking after. If you have always been thin it doesn't follow that you are sick, but you may not be healthy. You cannot be strong if you are thin.

Try then to be healthy and plump; it is not difficult if you know how.

The only way to increase the weight and gain health and flesh is by using Samose, the standard flesh-forming food and tissue builder. It mingles with the food you eat and is assimilated so that all the flesh forming and tissue building elements of the food are retained in the system. This explains the great value of Samose.

Weigh yourself before you begin using Samose. It will not cost you a cent unless it increases your weight and restores your health.

Howard Gardner sells every package on a genuine guarantee to refund the money if it does not do all that is claimed for it.

Beside this he is an orator of remarkable ability and never fails to instruct and interest his vast audiences. He will be at the Grand, Saturday, March 25, at 8 o'clock for one lecture.

CURVED PITCHING

It First Became a Factor in Baseball About the Season of 1875.

The old baseball controversy over the time of the appearance of curved pitching and credit for its invention has been revived by the statement of John Biglow that he pitched a curved ball away back in the thirties. In his "Retrospections of an Active Life" Mr. Biglow says:

"I came to be elected pitcher at baseball because I had acquired a knack of throwing the ball so that it would fall down by the side of the bat, instead of coming straight at it, and the batter would pretty invariably miss it, and if caught by the catcher would 'put him out' as the game was then played."

We don't know anything about this curved ball pitched so long ago by Mr. Biglow, except that from his description it was apparently a deadly drop and that he had it under perfect control. But we have a very strong feeling that curved pitching first became a factor in the sport of baseball about the centennial year.

Nor have we any exact knowledge concerning the origin of curved pitching. Our impression has always been that it was first put into use in the East in the fall of 1875. Anyway, if the art was known in the days of Mr. Bigelow's youth, it was rediscovered in 1875 or 1876. And here are the recollections of a man born and brought up in Chicago, who began his baseball career with "one old cat" in a vacant lot.

At the age of 17 this young man entered a college in Vermont in the fall of 1876. He played a fair game of ball for an amateur. And he had never heard of such a thing as curved pitching.

Upon his arrival at college this young Chicagoan naturally hunted up the baseball enthusiasts and found them in a state of wild excitement. The pitcher of the college team had learned during the summer to pitch a curved ball.

The Chicagoan was from Missouri on that proposition. He could pitch a little himself—and he had to be shown. He was shown. Pitcher, batter and catcher lined up on the campus diamond. The plate was carefully dusted off. The youth from Chicago got behind the plate. "Play ball!" he remarked.

The pitcher, a Vermont boy, grinned, screwed his fingers around the ball and without any preliminary contortions, slammed it toward the plate. In those days, he it remembered, all pitching was underhand, the rule being that the hand must be below the hip in delivering the ball. In this pitcher's delivery there was nothing unusual to be noted except a decided twist of the wrist as the ball left his hand.

The first impression of the Chicagoan was that the ball would not come anywhere near the plate—that it would even pass behind the batter. But the ball described so wide a curve that it finally passed outside of the plate, and even beyond the end of the bat in the batter's hands.

It was simply and solely a wide out-curve. It was gradual and even, with no sudden break in it. And the pitcher had no other curve. A few days later occurred an interesting and amusing scene which was duplicated about the same time on many a college campus. The news of the curved ball got to the professor of mathematics—who was skeptical, to say the least. So the dignified and skeptical professor was escorted to the diamond and tall stakes were set up and the pitcher proceeded to demonstrate to the satisfaction of the man of mathematics.

In the spring of 1877 the Chicago youth returned for the summer vacation with a very fair, wide, slow out-curve to show as the result of his close attention to his text books. Did that same wide, slow out-curve create a sensation on the vacant lot ball grounds of the South Side? It did. It did.

Everybody had to be shown. And everybody was. One champion of the prairie who said there could be no such thing and boasted that he would knock the ball into the lake, struck out ingloriously to such shouts of hilarious laughter that he flung down his bat and went home.

All of which would seem to show that the college pitcher picked up his one single curve in the summer of 1876 and that even as late as the summer of 1877 a curved ball in pitching was new in Chicago. Other curves were quickly mastered and the end of the straight ball dated from the season of 1877.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Warning to Railroad Men

Look out for severe and even dangerous kidney and bladder trouble resulting from years of railroading. Geo. E. Bell, 639 Third St., Fort Wayne, Ind., was many years a conductor on the Nickel Plate. He says: "Twenty years of railroading left my kidneys in terrible condition. There was a continual pain across my back and hips and my kidneys gave me much distress, and the action of my bladder was frequent and most painful. I got a supply of Foley Kidney Pills and the first bottle made a wonderful improvement and four bottles cured me completely. Since being cured I have recommended Foley Kidney Pills to many of my railroad friends." Howard Gardner.

Dentist—Will you take gas? Mr. Tightwad—Yes—er—what are your meter rates here?—Judge.

Once a bachelor who thought he knew it all married a widow, only to discover he was still in the kindergarten class.—Chicago News.

Our Chief of Artillery.

Brigadier General Arthur Murray, U. S. A., chief of artillery, is recognized as one of the world's experts in submarine mines. In his hands rests much of the responsibility for guarding the shore line of the country. General Murray was born in Missouri in 1851 and was graduated at the United States Military academy, second in his class, in 1874. He is a lawyer as well as a military man and has also been a professor of military science and tactics at Yale. He has written several technical works relating to army subjects.—Argonaut.

Faithful Postal Workers.

The government has no employees more faithful and none upon whose personal honesty more depends than the thousands of postmasters and postal clerks in our nearly 6,000 postoffices. When one thinks of the countless letters in filmy envelopes dropped into mail boxes and postoffices, with no protection except a 2 cent stamp and a thin piece of paper against the violation of secrets, the exposure of which might ruin a business, one realizes how much depends on the personal integrity of those who handle the mails.—Leslie's.

Thompson—Do you like to play bridge with your family?

Johnson—No. If I'm going to lose money I'd rather lose it where it may do me some good.—Life.

THE LITTLE GREAT MEN

Although there is absolutely no relation between brains and stature, it is a cherished idea that all great men must have been big fellows, physically as well as mentally, and it is a shock to every schoolboy when he discovers that Alexander the Great was a little chap of his own size. As a matter of fact, nearly all the world's mentally big men were physically small.

Confucius was a man of middle height, Socrates was stumpy, also St. Paul, and Alexander the Great great only as a warrior. In stature both he and his far more intellectual father, Philip of Macedon, scarcely reached middle height.

In this regard we may rank them with the famous Spartan general Agesilaus; with Attilla, the "Scourge of God"—broad shouldered, thick set, stumpy, short; with Theodoric II, king of the Goths, of whom Cassiodorus writes, "He is rather short than tall, somewhat stout, with shapely limbs, alike lithe and strong."

Aetius, too, commander in chief of the Roman empire in the days of Valentinian, was a man of low stature, therein resembling Timour the Tartar, self described as a "puny, lame, decrepit little wight, though lord of Asia and terror to the world;" also the great Conde and his pygmy contemporary Marshal Luxembourg, nicknamed "the Little" by those who admired him for making Louis XIV.

Louis the Great less his high heeled shoes and towering wig dwindles to about five feet six. But even thus pared down to the inches nature gave him he was a giant compared with Sir Francis Drake and with Admiral Keppel—"little Keppel," as every sailor in the fleet fondly dubbed him from pure admiration.

Oliver Cromwell, Claverhouse and Mohammed must be content to take it out in brains, for they all lacked inches. Two of these great names naturally suggest that of another famous soldier, Napoleon Bonaparte. The Little Corporal, as his men lovingly called him, stood about five feet (French) in his stockings, say five feet one and three-fourths English. In stature the Iron Duke beat him by about six inches, while the five feet four of Nelson placed him midway or thereabout between the victor and the victim of Waterloo.

McClellan, Grant, Sheridan and a dozen more of the famous generals of the war were of middle height or less. Edison, the great inventor, is a small man, and so was Jay Gould, the leading financier.

All this is consoling to the little fellow if he needs consolation, which he generally does not. As the bantam in the barnyard struts as proudly as the big Brahma, so the little man is never abashed at his lack of inches. He knows that brains alone count in the race for life and that the little man has even more than his share.

HOW ABOUT THIS?

You wouldn't ask your neighbor to build a house for you, if he was not equipped and had had no experience? Naturally you would go to a builder or contractor.

Then why ask a neighbor or friend to serve as executor or trustee of your estate? He is busy. He is inexperienced.

The Greensboro Loan & Trust Co.

makes it a specialty to act as trustee or executor, guardian or administrator. It charges the same as the inexperienced individual would charge—the law fixes the price.
